Dwight Beckner of Arlington Drives

Grade Near Laurel

THROWN INTO WINDSHIELD

Loose Gravel Attributed as Cause of Upset South of New Salem—Auto
Stolen in Front of Jail

In addition to several automobile accidents over the week end, none of which was of a serious nature, one automobile owner reported the theft of his car to officers Saturday night.

Clarence Lloyd, living on rural route 3, Rushville, parked his car at First and Perkins streets, diagonally across the street from the county jail, and when he returned for it Saturday night, it was gone. No trace of the car had been found today.

It was a Ford touring, 1921 model, and had license number 170,068. No trace was ever found of a stolen car belonging to Lyall Wortman, of Morristown, which was stolen from the streets here a week ago Sunday.

Two Ford coupes crashed at the corner of Main and Second streets Sunday, and each car was damaged, with bent fenders and broken lights. One car was being driven by Jess McFarland of this city, and according to witnesses, he had the right-of-way, with the "go" sign being flashed in his favor.

The coupe was occupied by two girls, who failed to see the traffic signal. They did not leave their names or address, and the police were searching today for the owner of the car, which bore a license plate issued from the Greensburg bureau.

Dwight Beckner, son of William Beckner, I. & C. traction agent of Arlington, had a narrow escape from death Sunday night when a Ford coupe, which he was driving, ran over a stone ledge and down a sharp grade about three miles south of Laurel, cutting him slightly and damaging the car to a great extent.

Beckner was not going fast, it is understood, but because of the many turns on the road became confused and turned off a stone bridge into the deep ditch. His car stood on end and he was thrown through the windshield, and out about the head and legs.

Both front wheels on the car were torn off and the radiator and top were damaged, in addition to the windshield, which was broken in the wreck. Beckner it could be seen by viewing the wreck this morning, escaped miraculously from being seriously injured.

Beckner was given first aid immediately following the accident and the car was brought to Arlington this morning for repair.

Loose gravel was attributed as the cause of another accident which might have resulted seriously, early Sunday morning, when a Ford touring car skidded and turned over on the state road just south of New Salem, slightly injuring Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of this city, the two occupants, and damaging the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were on their way to Cincinnati, when the accident occurred. The car turned over on them, cutting a deep gash in Mrs. Smith's leg, which required several stitches to be closed, and badly bruising Mr. Smith's hand.

MOTHER AND CHILD BOTH DIE

Mrs. James Hollingsworth, 40 Years Old, Mother of 11 Children

Mrs. Martha B. Hollingsworth, age 40 years, wife of James Hollingsworth, died Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock at their home on the Derby Green farm just northeast of Rushville, death following child birth.

An infant child was born Saturday, and buried Saturday afternoon, with the mother following the child in death a few hours later. It was her eleventh child.

The deceased leaves three children by the present marriage, and several grown children by a former marriage. Funeral services were held this morning at ten o'clock in charge of the Rev. B. F. Cato, and burial was made in East Hill cemetery.

Commissioners Advertise for Eleventh Street Paving

The county board of commissioners Saturday afternoon instructed the auditor to advertise for bids for the construction of the Albert L. Allen et al., road and bids will be received at the first meeting in September, Monday the seventh.

The time for remonstrances against the improvement expired Friday evening, and since the time for stopping the road through legal procedure has stopped, the board took the next step in the plans for building the highway.

The petition calls for the permanent improvement with cement of Eleventh street from Main west to Spencer street, better known as Posey's lane.

BUTLER GOING TO STATE DEPARTMENT

Rushville High School Principal Appointed Assistant School Inspector, Announced Today

IN SCHOOL WORK 16 YEARS

No Successor Named Here Yet, Although Several Applications are Being Considered

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 10—(U.P.)—Dr. Henry M. Sherwood, state superintendent of public instruction, today appointed E. B. Butler, principal of the Rushville school, assistant school inspector for the state department.

It has been known here for several days that Mr. Butler had resigned as principal of the Rushville high school to accept the state position, but the announcement was withheld pending the time his successor had been chosen.

The appointment was made public in Indianapolis today, according to the above dispatch received by the Daily Republican this afternoon.

H. B. Allman, superintendent of schools, has interviewed several applicants for the position as principal of the high school, but it is understood that no one has been elected.

Mr. Butler has been principal here since 1921, and has been in school work sixteen years, serving first as teacher, then as principal of a grade school, college instructor and finally as high school principal.

Mr. Butler began his teaching career in the rural schools in 1909 and fast moved up in the profession. From 1916 to 1920 he was superintendent of the Carthage schools and resigned to accept a position as civics instructor in the Michigan Agriculture college at Lansing, Mich., where he was engaged during the 1920-'21 school year. Mr. Butler came to Rushville in 1921 and has since been connected with the schools.

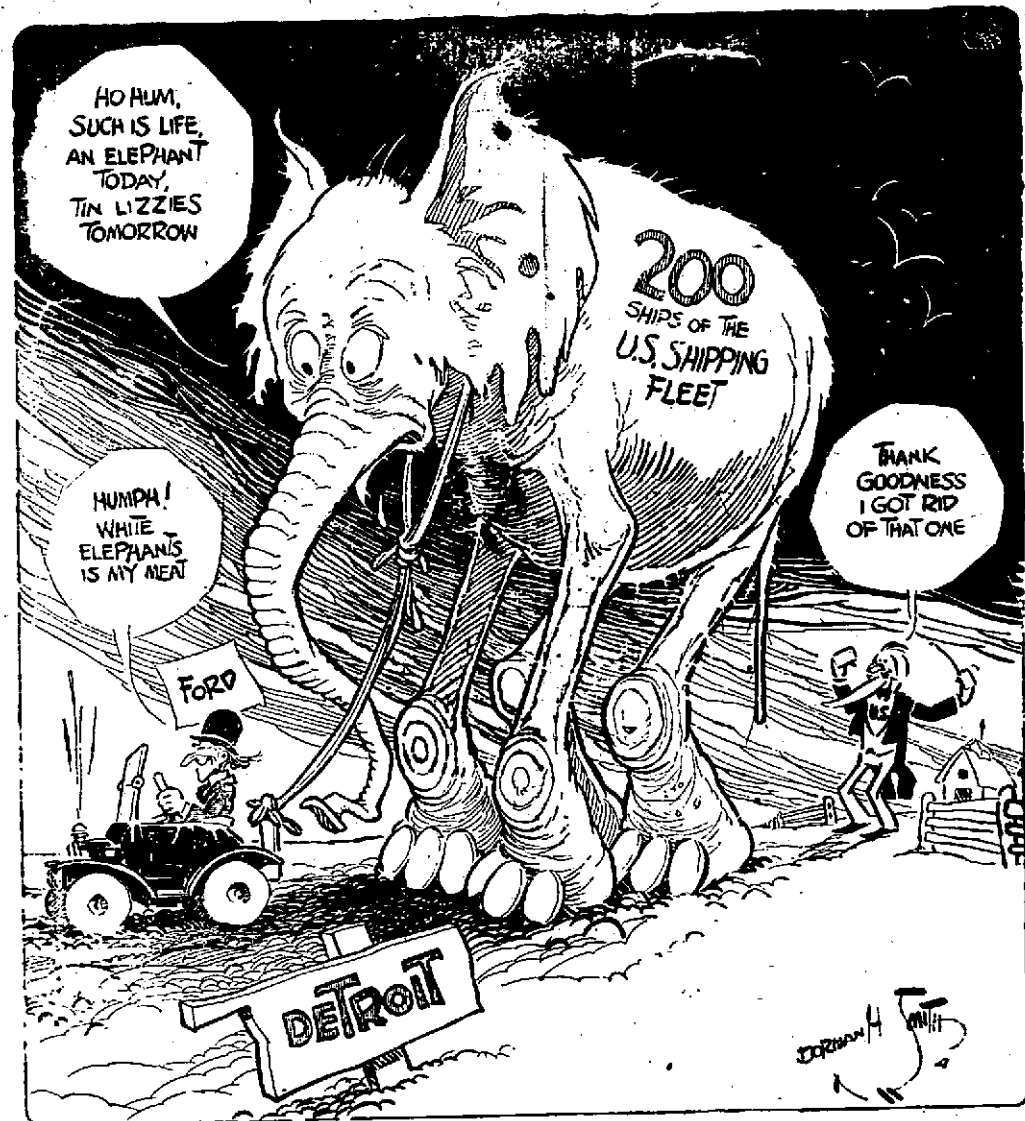

He has been the moving spirit in high school athletics and has been in complete charge of the schedules and finances. He has handled this work very successfully.

Mr. Butler is a graduate of Earlham college and has been doing graduate work at Indiana university this summer. He was also at the state university last year, and also has done some summer work in Chicago university.

Mr. Butler is a member of the Masonic lodge, the chapter and council, the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity, an honorary scholastic fraternity, and the Rotary club and Christian church. He is married and has three children. Mr. Butler was head of the Sixth District Teachers' association last year.

The change in the state department will not take place until October 1. The vacancy was caused by the resignation of E. E. Ramsey, chief of the inspection department, who has joined the faculty of Indiana State Normal at Terre Haute. Mr. Rittenberg was appointed to Ramsey's place.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED

Noblesville, Ind., August 10—(U.P.)—Judge Hines and State's attorney waited in vain throughout the morning today for expected action by the defense attorneys in the case of D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry.

The three men are held in jail here charged with murder for the death of Miss Madge Oberholzer of Indianapolis.

Judge Hines opened a special session of circuit court today to dispose of the case. The defense had requested immediate action in an appearance before Judge Hines last week. It had been announced that Eph Imman of Indianapolis, chief defense attorney, would appear to start action.

The judge was in court early to start the proceedings. William H. Remy, prosecutor of Marion county, and Charles E. Cox, special assistant prosecutor, were on hand to represent the state. But Imman and his defense staff failed to put in an appearance.

Floyd Christian, one of the defense attorneys, advised Judge Hines shortly before noon that Imman would be there this afternoon.

RACE WILL NOT FAIL TO FIND A SOLUTION

Present Day Problems Will be Solved, Just as Forefathers Met Every Question, Speaker Says

ADDRESS AT THE CHAUTAUQUA

Dr. W. A. Ganfield Sets Historical Background as Proof Every Age Has Met The Issues

"The white race have never failed to find the solution of a problem and be prepared to take the next step if they have clearly understood, frankly faced and honestly attempted to solve the problem," Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., said in an address at the Rush county chautauqua Sunday afternoon.

"I believe that we can as clearly understand, as frankly face them and find the solution to our problems as our forefathers have done."

Dr. Ganfield outlined from the beginning of the Christian era how every age had its problems, how they had been met and how every century or group of centuries had been noted for one particular movement, such as the age of feudalism, chivalry, the crusades, the renaissance and the reformation.

He ventured to say that the twentieth century will be noted for endeavoring to find a way for the world to live together in full prosperity, peace, harmony and contentment, because there is a new wave of thinking in this direction forcing its way into the minds of the people.

Dr. Ganfield paid tribute to the statesmanship and oratorical ability of Senator Watson at the outset of his address and congratulated Rush county upon having such a distinguished citizen.

Before setting up the historical background of his speech, Dr. Ganfield gave an inkling of what he was intending to lead up to when he said:

"The boy and girl of today is never satisfied until they learn the why of things. The interrogation point is the signmark of the age. Institutions hoary with age are being placed on the witness stand and asked whether they are serving well."

"Honesty is a requisite for understanding and sympathy is a requisite for service."

The speaker pointed out that social progress depends on the way each age understands and answers its problems. Just as every nation has stood for some great truth, he said, America stands for civil liberties.

"We have been thinking in this country," he continued, "since the beginning of the nation, in terms of liberty and freedom."

"Individuals grow and develop just as nations do. Many grow more swiftly in the matter of the physical than the intellectual. Many develop swiftly in both and still will be retarded morally."

"Nations and communities may also devote so much effort and energy to building up physical resources that they will neglect the moral side."

"There are stages, periods in peoples' lives when they devote themselves to certain efforts and in the same way nations develop."

He then drew upon history to prove this contention, showing how in the ninth century people had thought largely of feudalism and

The twenty-first annual Rush county chautauqua was well under way today, with good prospects of a normal attendance during the week, following a very successful opening Sunday.

While the paid admissions did not quite equal the first day last year, every guarantor's ticket was sold by evening of the first day and a few season tickets were disposed of at $2.50.

The first day's program was a good advertisement for the assembly because both afternoon and evening audiences showed great enthusiasm for the offerings of the Garner Jubilee company and the address of Dr. William A. Ganfield in the afternoon met with universal approval.

The attraction for today was expected to draw well because the Cinderella Play company is widely known as a stellar group of entertainers. They will present the popular play, "The Cinderella Man," tonight.

Thavin and his band is coming Tuesday for two concerts and present prospects are that attendance records for this year will be broken. This is the Thavin's first year on the chautauqua and his appearances have been one succession of triumphs.

Mrs. Owen Kincaid, who has just returned from Winona Lake, said today that she heard Thavin and his band at the lake and that it was the best band, without exception, that she had ever heard. This is the report that is coming in from all of the Indiana chautauquas where the celebrated band has played this summer.

The Garners have been here before, but they never were given such a big ovation as they received in their concert Sunday night. Their wide range of musical ability was displayed, from the singing of Russian and French operas to well known and familiar camp meeting songs and negro spirituals.

Mr. Garner delighted the audience with a reading, "When Malindy Sings," by the Negro American poet, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, and was so

GIVES $2,000 BOND, RELEASED

James Rardan of Indianapolis Arrested Here Several Weeks Ago

James Rardan of Indianapolis, who has been in the county jail for several weeks, following his arrest with a woman of that city on charges of violating the liquor laws, was released from jail this morning on $2,000 bond provided by relatives in Indianapolis.

He is facing charges in Justice Stech's court, and will be held on bond until final action is taken. The man and woman were arrested near Moscow when a machine in which they were riding upset. She gave bond shortly after their arrest. The man is also said to have confessed as to where he purchased the liquor, which resulted in the recent arrest of James Bennett of Moscow.

the great system of feudalism had grown up; how chivalry characterized the eleventh century and the crusades the fourteenth. He referred to the renaissance in the fifteenth century and the reformation in the sixteenth.

"If I wanted to get the best thought on Christianity," the speaker declared, "I would go back to the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries because the keenest thinking ever done before or since on this subject was done during the reformation."

"The people of America did more thinking in the real world politics and government during the eighteenth century than in any other period," he asserted, pointing out that was the outstanding achievement of that period.

The tremendous stride in economic life characterizes the nineteenth century, the speaker asserted.

"There is not a man living," he continued, "in 1925, who could have eaten mince pie and plum pudding for supper and dreamed a dream that would have revealed to him what we are today. More has been accomplished in the nineteenth century in economic development than during all time previous."

His closing thought was, what task will the twentieth century accomplish and for what will it be noted?

"Do you believe it possible," Dr. Gausfield asked, "for the human race to find out how to live together in full prosperity, peace, harmony and contentment? I believe that we are now on the way and that we will find the way."

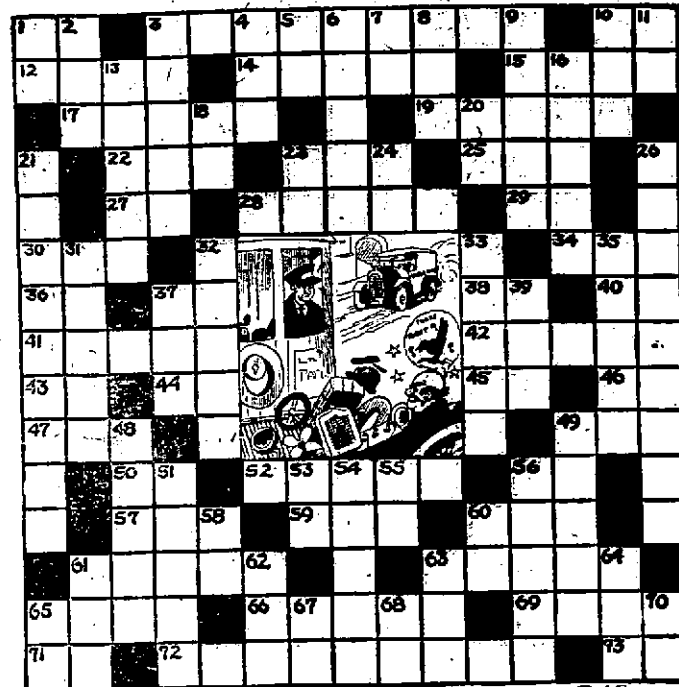

"But in this day when humanity is trying to find a way to a better social order, don't be surprised if someone comes along with a fake scheme, just as the fake stock salesman tries to sell blue sky."

He pleaded for thoughtful study of all panaceas just as you would give thought to the investment of your money.

The speaker said America had three stages in her advancement: 1763 to 1815, when the uppermost question was, how can we demonstrate our right as a people to sovereignty; 1827 to 1873, when the question of political rights, privileges and powers of states of the union and the rights of citizen within them was uppermost; 1893, when the present period began and is characterized by thinking along economic lines and social welfare of the people.

Then the mother died, and he sent money for the children to come to his home at Springfield, O. Immigration officers held them up again, and it was only through the intervention of Senator Fess of Ohio that Logan finally got them.

GOLD MEDAL SHEEP MAN TELLS HOW IT IS DONE

(Agricultural Extension Department, Purdue University)

"A lamb crop begins five months before the first lamb is born," said Allen Lewis, Montgomery County farmer as he completed weighing his lambs that qualified for a medal in the Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club, conducted by the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University and the Indiana Livestock Breeders Association. "It's my idea that it is more important to treat ewes rightly before lambing than after. I would not take as a gift a flock of ewes that had been badly wintered."

How many sheep breeders have thought of culling the ewe flock and locating a good purebred ram for service? The breeding season will soon be at hand. Only purebred rams have sired medal winners in Indiana.

Allen Lewis has a record of achievement in growing lambs few men can equal. He bred and developed two lambs the first nine months of their lives that later won the Grand Championship in the Fat Weather Classes at the International Livestock Exposition. They were shown by J. C. Andrews of West Point. Mr. Lewis was the first man in Indiana to complete a sheep production demonstration in cooperation with the Purdue Agricultural Extension Division. He has been cooperating with this organization in this project since 1917. During the last eight years, he has never failed in producing approximately a single deck of lambs yearly that have topped the market when they were culled. This year he qualified his entire crop of 77 lambs to win a medal in the Hoosier Gold Medal Sheep Club. No one in the state has ever qualified a flock of more than 38 lambs for a medal previously. These records justify growers every year in carefully analyzing the Lewis Methods of lamb production.

Summarizing the principles followed, we find the most emphasis placed on the following points:

1. The investment in sheep is greatly respected.

2. A place for 100 ewes on 160 acre farm.

3. Purebred rams used.

4. A knowledge of every ewe in the flock as a breeder, suckler and shearing ability.

5. Feeding the ewes a legume hay during periods when good pasture is not available.

6. Having lambs dropped during January, February and March.

7. Visiting the sheep barn periodically each night during the lambing season.

8. Saving over 95 percent of all lambs born alive.

9. Feeding the lambs grain from the time they are two weeks old until they go to market.

10. Feeding the ewes grain while suckling the lambs when good pasture is not available.

11. Giving the lambs green pasture.

12. Making gains on each group of lambs averaging 6-10 of a pound or more per lamb per day.

13. Never fails to make a profit regardless of wool prices.

While these are principles practiced in sheep production, yet Mr. Lewis finds something more in sheep than the golden hoof. He likes sheep and is interested in their welfare. If a ewe is lame, the trouble is sought. When a lamb does not get enough milk, he knows the reason. The best gaining lambs are always under observation. Every lamb is known individually as well as its mother. Thus, when love and skill work together one has a right to expect a masterpiece.

In qualifying for a medal, this

HONEY CROP TO BE WAY BELOW NORMAL

This season's honey crop will be at least 4,000,000 pounds short of the usual 8,000,000 pounds annual production, according to Charles O. Yost, state apiary inspector of the conservation department.

Yost's estimate is based on reports from all parts of the state showing an extreme in all conditions conducive to heavy production and successful bee raising. Weather conditions produced too-early brood-rearing, and early swarming, while the early dry weather dried up and killed much of the white and alkali clover. Honey was obtained principally this year from the sweet clover which better withstood the trying season. While the yield of honey varies in communities, state production will be far below last season's crop. Yost predicts a higher price for honey this fall because conditions that curtailed the crop in Indiana also prevailed in several other states.

Publishing Income Taxes

The stand of the Indiana Republican Editorial association as opposed to publicity for income taxes will strike a popular chord with people who believe that the government already has meddled entirely too much in private business.

Publishing the amounts paid by individuals and corporations would accomplish no good end, but would only serve to stir up strife by providing nice morsels of gossip for those who are inclined to tearing down instead of building up.

Publicity for income taxes would be meaningless, because the wealthiest in some instances might be paying an insignificant sum, compared with their earnings, due to owning large amounts of tax-free bonds.

Making public the taxes would in some cases be harmful without an explanation of the causes for the tax being large or small, and without the explanation, false conclusions would be reached and incalculable harm done business firms or individuals engaged in business.

The unanimous adoption of the resolution by the association reflects upon the newspaper association for condemning anything so thoroughly un-American. It likewise will tend to correct the view held in some quarters that newspapers are constantly seeking out some new sensation to serve their readers, regardless of the damage that such news would cause.

The great talk of the American press will continue to uphold the right of individuals to transact business privately, without unnecessary interference, so long as no laws are violated. There may be rare instances where "yellow" newspapers will relish publishing income taxes, but for the most part the press will not become a party to such a pernicious practice.

Why Mislead?

When our present tariff system was framed, between forty and fifty of the principal agricultural organizations of the country were represented at the hearings before the ways and means committee. They succeeded in carrying out their points with the result that practically everything the farmer buys for use on his farm was placed on the free list, and everything the farmer raises for sale was put on the protected list.

In spite of all the political talk to the contrary, it is safe to say that the general opinion of the informed farmer is, that our present tariff laws are as nearly perfect from the point of view of the farmer as it is possible to make them.

To open the flood gates of Europe and the Orient and abolish the tariff on wheat and other cereals, wool, butter, eggs, cheese, citrus fruits, sugar and a hundred other things that the farmer raises which are now protected, would be a calamity for the farmer just as he is beginning to get on his feet.

A blow at the tariff protection to American industry is a blow at the factory worker, which in turn is a blow at the farmer, because American workmen comprise the biggest market for American farm products.

The sooner the public, the laboring man, and the farmer realize these homely facts, the sooner will the tariff question be taken out of politics and considered merely as a scientific business problem, to be changed only as varying conditions warrant a reconsideration of rate schedules.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican
(Tuesday, Aug. 10, 1910)

The eyes of all of the politicians in the State of Indiana—Republicans and Democrats alike—will be centered on Rushville Friday afternoon when William Jennings Bryan, erstwhile candidate for President on the Democratic ticket and also at one time a defeated candidate for the same office on the same ticket, will speak at the Rush County Chautauqua.

Despite the fact that the chautauqua is in session the "Big Wednesday" crowds were as large as usual. People thronged the streets all afternoon and even before dinner a large number of people were in the city.

H. H. Sargent, a Rush county boy, who was born and reared in Carthage, is fast gaining prominence in Indianapolis where he is engaged as a practicing attorney.

Theodore H. Reed and Son are paying the following prices for grain: Wheat, 60 lbs. $1.02; wheat 50 lbs. $1.00; new oats, per bushel, 30c. The following are ruling prices of Rushville market: spring chickens, per pound 14c; hens on foot, per pound 11c; eggs, per dozen, 13c; butter, country, per pound, 16c; hogs $7.50 to $8.50; cattle, $4 to $8.

Mrs. Ben Mullin will entertain the Utopia Club at her home in North Perkins street tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cowing and son Byron made an automobile trip to Richmond and East Haven yesterday. Mr. Cowing attended the trustees' meeting of the East Haven Insane hospital at East Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Holmes have returned home after spending a few days, the guest of Fred Boyd and family at Greensburg. Miss Florine Boyd accompanied them home to spend a few days and to attend the chautauqua.

About eight o'clock last night while most of the people in the central residence portion of the city were attending the chautauqua, the police had a burglar call to the home of Louis Neutenhelzer, in North Morgan street. When police man Walters arrived no trace of the burglar could be found.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES F. STEWART

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—President Coolidge continues saying not one single word about a renomination in 1928.

He's too slick. His cue is to keep quiet and have a renomination forced on him.

This is being attended to all right by political fixers like Dave Mervino and Congressman J. W. Taylor, Republican national committeemen from Kansas and Tennessee respectively.

They've been heard from already to the effect that he'll be by far the strongest candidate to succeed himself and intimating that he owes it to his party to make the run—because it surely can win with him and there'd be doubts about anybody else.

More politicians whom the president can depend on may be looked for confidently to express similar sentiments as time progresses, until there's a whole chorus of them.

If the president didn't like this kind of thing, he could stop it by saying so.

THE Coolidge boosters undoubtedly would be correct in their estimate of his strength, if it were 1928 right now. But plenty of things can happen in three years.

There isn't much inspiration in President Coolidge. His political shop is popular, not because the voters are particularly thrilled by its proprietor, but because, up to date, they've liked his goods.

However, the public taste in political goods changes. And seemingly the Coolidge stocks only one kind—the ultra-conservative kind.

Ultra-conservatism in style at present. It has been for the last eight (going on nine) years. That's a long time for one political style to last.

YES, President Coolidge's 1928 prospect looks all right now, but whether it stays that way is largely a matter of pure luck—heads, ultra-conservatism lasts another three years; tails, some new whim comes in.

Luck! Coolidge has had a wonderful run of it ("Lucky Cal") but "the only sure thing about luck is that it's bound to change."

That's the thought that other politicians, who'd like a look-in themselves in 1928, are encouraging themselves with.

Well, Dawes stuck a fishing hook in his finger. Wish we could have heard him getting it out.

Snake bit a man in Colorado. He went 60 miles to a doctor. Thought everybody knew what to do for a snake bite.

Things are so quiet in Chicago this summer you can hear them robbing hotels half a block away.

Chicago wants to be a state all by itself. And there are lots of tails which want to wag dogs.

ASSEMBLY OPENING

Vigorously applauded that he was forced to respond with two encores.

Another delightful part of the night concert was a difficult piano number by Mrs. Garner who, her husband announced, is the only colored girl who had twice been honored as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. She also played an encore.

Two bass solos, "Asleep in The Deep," and "Oh Black Joe," were very popular numbers, and a group of three solos by the baritone singer also won applause.

The male quartet was probably the most popular group because the harmony they produced seemed to have a special appeal for the crowd. The encore song was so well regarded that the singers had to repeat it a second time.

For the afternoon prelude, the Gargers sang a group of negro spirituals and camp meeting songs, and were most liberally applauded.

The chautauqua was opened promptly at two o'clock, with introductory remarks by Dr. J. B. Kinsinger, president of the association who said he regarded it was a useless function, because there was no need of reciting the history of the Rush county chautauqua.

Dr. Kinsinger declared that the program committee had been unusually fortunate in obtaining a program of great merit and he predicted a very successful session of the assembly.

Omer Trusler led the audience in singing "America" and a Rush county song to the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers," with piano accompaniment by O. P. Wamsley, and the opening prayer was made by the Rev. B. F. Cato, pastor of the Main Street Christian church.

EVOLUTION MAY GO TO CONGRESS

Echoes of Dayton Trail Will Reach Washington, and Debate May Be Expected in Congress

ANTI-BILL IS PLANNED

Georgia Senator is Considering Introduction of Bill, and Evolution May Be Election Issue

By WILLIAM J. LOSH

Washington, Aug. 10.—Beyond all doubt, echoes of the Dayton evolution trial will career around the marble halls of Congress this winter.

The issues thrashed out and momentarily laid in the bucolic pulitens of the Tennessee mountains in July will be received in the more austere surroundings of the nation's greatest broadcasting station in January.

Rep. William C. Upshaw, democrat of Georgia, has been quoted as ready to introduce a federal anti-evolution bill in the House of Representatives, in all serious intent. Not so serious is a move on foot at the other end of the Capitol. There, proponents of freedom of science in public schools frankly plan a different sort of a show, a sort of undisguised Chautauqua.

Plans are now more than tentative at the present but it is the intention of this latter element to have an anti-evolution bill introduced in the Senate and referred to committee probably the Senate education and labor committee, headed by Senator Lawrence Phipps, republican of Colorado.

Hearings would be held in this bill and the testimony which Judge Raulston barred from the Dayton trial would be given here. Scientists, educators, theologians, statesmen and all the long train which Clarence Darrow was ready to lead across the Dayton stage would be put on the stand here.

There would be no legal quarrelling over competency of evidence, for there are few if any rules associated with senate hearings. The bars would be down and a battle royal insured. The issues would be thrashed out endlessly, and a university extension course in evolution, and biblical history, if nothing else, be provided.

Fundamentalism and modernism have not until the present invaded Congress, where lines of cleavage apart from party lines have been only those of liberal and conservative, progressive or reactionary.

The affair would be of market value as an indicator because of the announced intention of the Fundamentalists to carry their fight against evolution through Congress to the people if the Tennessee law and other similar statutes are declared unconstitutional.

Congress would have to pass a resolution laying before the people an anti-evolution constitutional amendment before the people could actually enter the fight. The proposed discussion and action in the House and Senate anti-evolution bills would show whether Congress as at present constituted would enact such a resolution or whether the fight would take place, not over a constitutional amendment, but over the election of a Congress to enact such an amendment.

TAKES A REAL TEAM TO BEAT RUSHVILLE

Tail Lights Finally Got to Battson, However, and Team Makes Weak- en Behind Him

A baseball team needs nine men to make a real contender for the Rushville Tail Lights. This was demonstrated Sunday when the local team took the Milton team over to the tune of 6 to 1. Milton came to Rushville with a reputation of nine wins out of twelve games played, having defeated such teams as Richmond, Hagerstown, Cambridge City and other teams of strong calibre.

Milton had a battery that was probably the best to visit the local diamond this year, Battson and King. Between these two men over half of the local men were retired. However, when Battson and King depended upon the rest of the team for help it usually was lacking for a total of seven errors were committed behind them. Battson struck out eleven of the local men, but Rushville got to him for eight hits, all of them figuring in the scoring.

Shaw for Rushville pitched another one of his good games and let Milton down with two little singles and two of the flakiest kinds of bingles. Behind Shaw the best kind of support was given. Every man on the Rushville team was in on the killing, each man making at least one putout during the game. All the men played like a college trained team and took advantage of every chance to score and made some of the most spectacular catches of the local season, the features being catches by Byrnes off the wire of the grand stand and catch by Max Pearsey off to one side of the stands. M. Joyce, Owens and Sharp in the field accounted for nine of the putouts, many of them being made after hard chances.

The biggest crowd of the season was present and thoroughly enjoyed the game. Next Sunday the locals will journey to Batesville for a game with the team that defeated them here recently 1-0 in a thrilling battle, that was won by a home run.
